

Track C discovery funnel: spend cheap compute before expensive scale-up

QM9 ranks candidates; PubChemQC transfer decides whether a result is relevant to the target domain.

Key lesson: an architecture can be internally strong and still fail external transfer.
Track C is therefore an evidence filter, not a production registry.